NEWS RELEASE

Travelers Canada Appoints New Leadership for Financial and Professional Services, Marketing and Communications

TORONTO, Feb. 25, 2011 – Travelers Canada is pleased to announce the promotion of Francine Armel, Vice President, to lead its Financial and Professional Services division.

Armel joined Travelers Canada in 2005 in the Financial and Professional Services division, which offers management liability and professional indemnity products for public, private and nonprofit companies and financial institutions. Previously, Armel served as a Senior Claims Counsel for specialty claims at Liberty International Underwriters, and prior to that she practiced insurance law at private law firms.

Additionally, Sally Turney has joined Travelers Canada to lead the communications, marketing and branding functions. Turney comes to Travelers Canada from Aviva, where she most recently held the position of Vice President, Corporate Affairs. With more than 20 years of experience and having spent more than a decade in the insurance industry, Turney has developed and worked on many strategic marketing communications programs.

“Travelers Canada is committed to delivering strong underwriting, solid claims management and specialty expertise to best serve the needs of our brokers and customers,” said George Petropoulos, President and CEO, Travelers Canada. “We have a strong leadership team in place to drive our strategic and growth initiatives in the Canadian market and look forward to Francine and Sally contributing to our success.”
